Narrative

1. On 11/03/2026 at 19:52 hrs, dispatch received a call from a student reporting "a loud argument about confetti and the main branch." The reporting party stated the disturbance began at approximately 19:48. I arrived at 20:01 hrs.

2. Upon arrival the disturbance had ended. Three male students and one female student were present. No other persons were in the lounge. A beanbag chair was on its side. A silver laptop was closed on a table with its charger unplugged. One crushed granola bar (brand: Oat-ly Ever After) was on the floor near the beanbag. No stress ball was recovered.

3. Ajmain stated that both other parties physically jumped him, that a blue stress ball was thrown at his head, and that the incident lasted about 20 minutes. Saaiem stated that only Rifat made physical contact and that he himself remained at the vending machine. Rifat stated that no argument occurred and that nobody jumped anybody. The statements cannot all be true.

4. Ajmain reported a bruised elbow and declined medical attention. I observed no visible injuries on any party. Ajmain used both arms freely while demonstrating a confetti animation on his laptop. In this officer's opinion, the animation was not that bad.

5. The laptop terminal displayed the text git push origin main typed on the command line but not executed. Saaiem stated that main is a protected branch.

6. No evidence of physical contact with any person was observed or reported by the independent witness. The witness reported that a gray-beanie party reached for the laptop and a green-jacket party removed a cable from the wall.

7. The parties agreed to settle the matter by poll in their group chat. The result was 2 to 1 against the proposed feature. Ajmain requested a recount, which was denied.

Disposition

No crime committed. No arrests, citations, or referrals. Resolved on scene. Parties advised to review team rules for merging to main before further feature proposals.
